

Delaney Carlovsky

My name is Delaney Carlovsky, I was born and raised in Las Vegas. I went to Baylor University for my undergraduate where I got a bachelor of science in Child and Family Studies/ Child development in May 2021. I have been an RBT since 2020 when I had to do a practicum in a field of child and family studies, and decided to stay in the field ever since. I grew to love the field so much I decided to continue my education in ABA through Ball State and graduated May 2023. I have finished my field work hours and am planning on sitting for the board exam soon! I have recently been selected to be a part of research at UNLV for the ABA program there.

Some things I like to do on my spare time is read, go for walks with my dog, and watch college football or hockey!

What is your experience and/or comfort level with website design?

I have designed a website before a few years ago for a class.

What is your experience and/or comfort level with creating social media content?

I love creating media content.

What is your experience and/or comfort level with video creation and/or editing?

I have some experience editing videos and have fun with ur.

This position requires the ability to prioritize tasks and task-switch as needed. What experience do you have that lends well to these skills?

I have been a registered behavioral technician for over three years now and have gained these skills through having to think quickly and be proactive as well as reactive. While being and RBT I was also in school for my masters and had to prioritize school and projects over some social events. I was able to learn to obtain a good work-life balance- and still have these skills as I am studying for my BCBA exam.

One of the goals of the At-Large Rep role is to increase engagement and visibility with members and potential members. With that in mind, what do you feel makes you a good fit for the role? What would you like to bring to this position?

I have always felt inclined to help others- whether it be face to face or behind the scenes. I have learned many skills through classes, volunteering and working on how to engage with others to positively impact them. I want to make a difference in others lives and know that with my help I can do that. I love planning events, finding new ways to get others involved, and teaching others. I can learn through others, but think that others can also learn through me.

Alexis Stevenson

My name is Alexis Stevenson. In 2018 an indeed ad kept popping out at me so I blindly applied and before I knew it, became an RBT. I instantly fell in love with the field so much so that a few months later I applied for and started the masters program at Ball State University. I graduated mid covid, and passed my exam December 2021. I now am the assistant Clinical Director at Las Vegas Autism Center.

What is your experience and/or comfort level with website design?

I have one prior experience with website design, though it was not ABA related.

What is your experience and/or comfort level with creating social media content?

I worked on a variety of project with creating social media content, such as for the Standard Celeration Society as well as for a page in support of Senate Bill 96, a bill made to increase the rate of ABA in Nevada.

What is your experience and/or comfort level with video creation and/or editing?

I am not by any means a professional at the skill, but I have done a fair share of editing and creating videos.

This position requires the ability to prioritize tasks and task-switch as needed. What experience do you have that lends well to these skills?

It's hard to teach my client base flexibility and not be flexible myself. I wear many hats, director, case advisor, mentor, friend, so being able to quickly switch my attention to other tasks is engrained to who I am and what I do.

One of the goals of the At-Large Rep role is to increase engagement and visibility with members and potential members. With that in mind, what do you feel makes you a good fit for the role? What would you like to bring to this position?

I think coming from Las Vegas I can assist in getting more engagement from the ABA workforce here as NABA is heavily Reno based.

Janelle Saunders, Ph.D., BCBA-D, LBA

Dr. Janelle Saunders earned her B.A. and M.Ed. From the University of Nevada Las Vegas in psychology and special education, and has been working in the autism field since 2007. She completed her Ph.D. in Special Education from UNLV, defending a dissertation based in Functional Communication Training and communication via the iPad. Janelle teaches graduate level courses at UNLV, focusing on ethics, communication, and speech and language. As the clinic director and family guidance coordinator at Autism Care West, Janelle plays an integral role overseeing and supporting other supervising behavior analysts, integrating Functional Communication Training, and coordinating the delivery of parent education, training, and family guidance services.

What is your experience and/or comfort level with website design?

Very little, only Canva for social media.

What is your experience and/or comfort level with creating social media content?

I currently run the social media for our clinic, using Instagram and Facebook.

What is your experience and/or comfort level with video creation and/or editing?

Some video creation experience, but little in terms of video editing.

This position requires the ability to prioritize tasks and task-switch as needed. What experience do you have that lends well to these skills?

I am currently a mom, clinic director, and adjunct faculty at UNLV. I am constantly handling multiple tasks at once in order to ensure a smooth operation at work and home. I am also the lead supervisor for the supervisees at the clinic, and help to oversee Family Guidance for all clients.

One of the goals of the At-Large Rep role is to increase engagement and visibility with members and potential members. With that in mind, what do you feel makes you a good fit for the role? What would you like to bring to this position?

I have been in the field for 16 years now, and I interact with many in the field on a regular basis. I also teach potential teachers and BCBAs at UNLV and have access to a large majority of students that could be potential members of NABA. Our clinic currently attends all community engagement opportunities with FEAT of southern Nevada, and I am always looking to collaborate more with members of the community. There is a great need to have more Southern Nevada providers involved in NABA and I would like to help facilitate this!

What is your experience and/or comfort level with video creation and/or editing?

I do not have much experience with video creation or editing, but my 18 year old son is excellent with anything technology-related and would be more than happy to help his mom ;)

This position requires the ability to prioritize tasks and task-switch as needed. What experience do you have that lends well to these skills?

As the COO of an ABA company in southern Nevada, everything that goes into running the company involves a high level of multi-tasking and prioritization. I am solely in charge of ensuring that the company is running smoothly and efficiently and that each team member (approximately 35) is satisfied and meeting expectations. Every day is something new (and usually something unplanned) that needs immediate attention or priority... and we get it done. In addition, I have also simultaneously been a co-instructor at ASU. This position involved a great deal of task-switching, as new issues would come up regularly, requiring ongoing attention to reach a resolution. Most importantly though, I am a mom to 5 kiddos that range in ages from 18 years to 1 week old! So I am definitely always on my toes and ready for anything! :)

One of the goals of the At-Large Rep role is to increase engagement and visibility with members and potential members. With that in mind, what do you feel makes you a good fit for the role? What would you like to bring to this position?

I am organized, efficient, and a go-getter. When I want to achieve something, I do it. I am incredibly passionate about behavior analysis and the dissemination of our science to others as well as supporting and encouraging inclusivity, diversity, and equity within our field. I am connected to several ABA providers and resources in southern Nevada (as well as outside of our state) and feel that those connections can benefit NABA to help increase outreach, practice, and overall membership and participation. I am a huge proponent for advocacy and am always willing to jump in and get things moving! I love to learn and am not afraid to speak up or volunteer when needed.
